Fashions in Hollywood

by LEE HOGAN

A REVOLUTIONARY design in travel clothes is modeled by NBC's JEAN BATES as she climbs aboard a Lockheed Constellation in Hollywood for a trip East. The smartly tailored gabardine dress, fastened with chrome buttons, has a divided skirt for a maximum of comfort. Color is added to the costume by a gaily striped faille cap by Kenneth Hopkins, and Brody's voluminous shoulder bag in stitched patent is ideal for travelers.

PRETTIEST PARTY FROCK of the season is a tiered chambray chosen by PEGGY ANN GARNER for spring and summer events featuring Hollywood's younger set. Featuring a skirt in three swirling tiers, the yellow chambray has a demure neckline, scalloped collar and petal cap sleeves finished with scallops. . . . Teen-ager LOUISE ERICKSON, star of "A Date With Judy," says the college girls are taking over the slightly longer skirts before their career girl sisters. Favorite of blonde Louise is a very full pastel plaid wool worn with a neat silk shirt for her Occidental College classes. . . . Dark-haired DIANA LYNN looked her youngest and smartest lunching at the Brown Derby in a navy blue dress of spun rayon worn with a waist length jacket of white wool. The dress buttoned all the way up the side with big pearl discs and Diana wore a white felt bowler bustled with navy taffeta bows. . . . Actress JAN FORD, who will soon be splitting time between Hollywood's Radio City, Eagle-Lion Studios and UCLA, is a very fashion conscious 17-year-old who loves color in her casual clothes. Jan's versatile spring suit of turquoise gabardine is made with a short box jacket, trim pleated skirt and matching slacks.

SUGGESTION OF THE MONTH from MARY LOU HARRINGTON, who is heard as Joan on "One Man's Family," is a bright idea for the high-school and college crowd. Mary Lou collects chalked-out graphs of school mates on chiffon or chiffon in sequins for glamour occasions and embroiders the wool ones in all colors for wear with sweaters and raincoats.

List Lesson Sermon

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 12. The Golden Text is: "He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death" (Psalms 68:20).

Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God" (Luke 13:11-13).

The Old Academy Players, of 3544 Indian Queen Lane, Philadelphia, will present "Outward Bound" for their first production of the fall season on October 9, 10, 11, 16, 17 and 18. Thomas J. Phayre is the director.

Mrs. John Y. Huber, of Gulph Rd., Havertown, chairman of the Women's Advisory Committee for Pennsylvania Week, urged widespread cooperation for celebration of Pennsylvania Week, at the first fall meeting of the Philadelphia Federation of Women's Clubs and Allied Organizations held at the Bellevue-Stratford, last Saturday.

The Rose Tree Races, to be held in Media, October 18, are already promising to be one of the big racing events of the season, with reservations already filled for both boxes and parking spaces.

One of the most interesting entries received is "Play Here," sensational winner of last year's timber race.

Listed for the afternoon are the Riddle Cup, at one mile; the Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup, at three miles over timber, and the Major Henry Reed Hatfield Cup, at one mile and a half. The Foxcatcher Plate two-mile steeplechase and the six-furlong dash will complete the five-card race.

PLAYHOUSE TO OPEN

Care Will Sponsor Wedding Gifts to English Princess

The Main Line branch of CARE announced this week that it will join in the campaign to present a special gift to the Princess Elizabeth, on the occasion of her marriage to Prince Philip on Nov. 20.

Working through the "Share Through CARE" committee, the Main Line group is helping to send thousands of special food packages to the undernourished people, as a tribute to their Princess. Elizabeth herself has undertaken the task of making sure that the packages reach the most needy of her subjects. However, donors may designate the families to which their packages go, if they choose.

Like all of CARE's packages, the special wedding gift costs $10. It will be delivered duty, ration and tax-free, and will contain 22 pounds of food and over 40,000 calories. It was designed especially to supplement the present food shortage in the United Kingdom.

Britain had a terrible winter last year, which ended in floods and was followed by drought. As a result, this year's crops are under average for the last ten years, which means that the people are even hungrier than they were during the war.

Miss Elizabeth Towle, chairman of the Main Line committee, said this week that in view of the foregoing facts, the group sincerely hopes to make the "Princess' wedding gift" represent a really large amount of food.

He that doth live at home, and learns to know God and himself, needeth no farther go.—Christopher Harvey.

CHOOSING A CAREER

Make Advertising Your Business

By DOROTHY ENGEL
Charles Morris Price School

In every person's lifetime, there comes that crucial moment when he will say—where do I go from here? What career can I follow that will give me the most of the best?

To those that ask this question we shout Advertising. Here is a field where the sky is the limit; the scope is endless. Here is a field where the imaginative person can deliver himself from the hackneyed pursuit and introduce himself to a lifetime of fascination.

Yes there is much to be said for advertising. In the past few decades it has become the heart and sometimes, we think, the soul of enterprise. Because of it, articles are cheaper and business is nationalized, and often internationalized, so that all the world is a potential buyer.

The need for advertising is unquestionably established and what is more, and better for you, it is growing and will welcome with open arms any creative mind that will help to perform its function more advantageously.

Up to this time we have been speaking of advertising as a singular field; in reality, however, it represents a fusion of specialized talents.

For instance, into every advertisement there must go, first of all, a well-directed analysis of the product and the consumer market. Only by thorough research, can the advertiser hope to learn where, and why, and how he can secure the greatest promotional value from his advertising appeal.

At this point it is now the job of the copywriter, the layout man and the artist to create an advertisement that will not only attract attention but stimulate buying action.

Even at this stage, the advertisement little resembles the eye-catching you will see in your favorite down the German throats with a machine gun," Dr. Wells said. "The only way Germans can ever learn democracy is by starting to practice it, and it cannot be built on ruins and empty stomachs."

Dr. Wells feels that some progress has been made, especially on the lower levels of government with duly elected representatives.

In speaking of the Russians, Dr. Wells said he found many of them to be quite human and likeable, and that we must not consider all of them as "boogie men."

"We must remember that the Russians are bound by instructions from Moscow," he said, "and that unless they get the green light from top officials, little progress can be made."

"We should avoid name-calling, and not try to out-Vladimir Vlasov," he said. "The recent flareup in the United Nations Assembly may be a smokescreen to cover up a few loose screws which need tightening up at the Russian home base."

"Our effort has been for a federalized form of government for Germany, whereas the Russians cling to the unitary form of government set up for the Weimar Republic," he said.

Mrs. Wells spoke on her relief work among the Methodist congregations in the Berlin area.

Dr. Clinton M. Cherry, pastor of the Ardmore church, presided, and Mrs. Cherry was chairman of the committee which prepared and served the dinner.

ment's outlay for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1946, was $61,597, while for the ensuing year the housekeeping cost rose to $71,349.

One of Miss Dinkelacker's most difficult tasks is to maintain sufficient personnel to run her department.

"During the war years," she reported, "it was hard enough, with industrial plants, business offices and housewives employing thousands of additional workers at high pay. We hoped that the end of the war would bring a little relief from this situation, but we are still finding it extremely difficult to get enough qualified employees."

It looks as though Miss Dinkelacker's responsibilities will increase rather than decrease, when the planned expansion program gets under way. With the $2,500,000 building fund, the hospital hopes to enlarge its scope to the point where it can accommodate 417 patients, instead of the 237 that can be cared for in its present crowded buildings.

This, of course, means just that many more beds, rugs, curtains and drapes to look after.

"Among these," he said, "were the movies, funny papers and above all the atmosphere of the home." He also said that American people have become a race of onlookers, not participators.

Snow's talk followed a business meeting at which Mrs. Carl L. Miller, club president, presided.

Plan Bryn Mawr Hospital Expansion

The architect's plot plan of the greater Bryn Mawr Hospital shows how the hospital will be expanded to provide adequate hospital protection for the entire Main Line through the $2,500,000 building fund being subscribed by the community. New buildings to be constructed are shown in black. The new "A-1" Building, shown at the right, will add 44 beds for patients making possible the accommodation of an additional 2500 patients a year. Space in the new "C" Building, at the left, will be assigned for the expanded out-patient department, clinical laboratories and diagnostic facilities. The new Nurses Home and School is seen across Lindsay Avenue. The architects are Zantlinger and Borie, of Philadelphia.

KNOW YOUR STATE

The Water Under Our Soil

Although the underground water supply of our State may be thought of as inexhaustible since it is a common experience that a successful well may be dug in almost any part of our area, the heavy use of underground water supplies in certain industrial sections of the State is presenting a serious problem.

Ground water, besides being used as a community water supply in some of our smaller towns, is also important to many Pennsylvania industries. Its principal use is for cooling and condensing in ice plants, dairies, oil refineries, distilleries and power plants. It is also used for air conditioning theaters, office buildings and stores, a use which is increasing very rapidly, particularly in the larger cities. Since ground water is stored rainfall, the digging of many wells within a given area usually results in lowering the water table. This has already occurred in some parts of the State. As deeper and deeper wells are drilled many of the earlier wells go dry. This process of competition for ground water might finally result in the encroachment upon the ground water supplies of rock strata bearing acid mine drainage, salt water or water contaminated by human or factory waste. This is particularly true in areas where old dry wells or other excavations such as abandoned mine shafts are used for disposal. In some areas of the State subterranean streams flow for many miles before coming out to the surface as springs feeding our surface water supply. The contamination of such streams by waste matter from distant sources presents a serious problem.

Some progress has been made in the study of the State's ground waters by the Geological Survey of Pennsylvania in cooperation with the United States Geological Survey. However, the Conservation Committee of the Post-War Planning Commission and the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce has recently recommended that intensive studies be made in the Pittsburgh area because of the industrial and municipal importance of the underground water supply there. It also recommended that the number of observation wells distributed throughout the State be greatly increased; that more effective service be given to industries and municipalities requiring underground water data; and that detailed studies be instituted on critical problems. These recommendations supplement the extended study of the surface waters of Pennsylvania shortly to be published by the State Planning Board in co-operation with the Department of Forests and Waters and the United States Geological Survey.

Water is the most essential of all our national resources and the assurance of an adequate supply of this precious fluid is one of the most necessary steps in the extensive conservation program being undertaken by our State government.

Hi-Y Clubs from Lower Merion High Schools, the Hawks Club and clubs from Narberth and Bryn Mawr communities.

Representatives of many civic organizations of Bryn Mawr and vicinity met last Thursday evening at John Winthrop Post 118, American Legion headquarters in the War Memorial building. H. Rowland Weaver, executive secretary of the Main Line YMCA, presided, having been previously appointed chairman of a temporary committee to set up this meeting and a permanent organization.

The name of the organization to provide facilities and program for all youth of this area is to be known as the Communities Youth Association. John Austin, of the American Legion, was elected president; Mrs. William Stockton, president of the Bryn Mawr Woman's Club, vice-president; James C. Hengst, secretary, and Joseph C. Ferguson, also of the Legion, treasurer. Austin announced that the personnel of his committee would be announced next week. It is hoped that this organization will be a clearing house for all youth activities as well as developing many new programs.

The project was started in the Bryn Mawr Public School last year by the John Winthrop Post, with an athletic program for boys from 12 to 16 years of age. Robert Miller, of County Line Rd., Bryn Mawr, will direct the activities again with registration on Thursday, October 9, between 7 and 9 P. M., at the Bryn Mawr School. All boys of the above ages are urged to register at that time. Mrs. Stockton stated that plans are being considered for a similar program for girls in the near future. Besides Weaver, members of the temporary steering committee were Mrs. Stockton, Charles Fanslow, Walter Flah, the Rev. J. Arthur Younger, Gerald Pitman, C. W. Ogelsby, Robert Miller and Ferguson.

The Bryn Mawr Hi-Y Club will meet at the Bryn Mawr School Thursday evenings beginning this week under the leadership of Robert Quay.

PIAA Committee Scheduled to Meet Oct. 18th

The members of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association's track steering committee, consisting of one representative appointed by the chairman of each PIAA district committee, will meet in Harrisburg at the Penn Harris Hotel Saturday, October 18.

Track representatives — especially from the western part of the State — have objected to the 200-yard hurdle race, adopted by the National Federation several years ago, and subsequently adopted by the PIAA.

Arguments have been advanced by track men that the 200-yard hurdle distance is not conducive to developing the proper stride for the continuing of high hurdles racing by the high school graduate when he enters college. The National Federation track committee recently has advanced the suggestion of substituting a 180-yard low hurdle race for the 200-yard event and eliminating one hurdle from the former 220-yard test.

Villanova Plays Holy Cross in Saturday Tilt

The first of two New England visits within a fortnight will find the Villanova College eleven playing Holy Cross at Worcester this Saturday, Oct. 11.

Coach Jordan Oliver's squad returns to the same arena for a nocturnal game with Boston College on Friday, Oct. 24. In between, Villanova plays its annual contest with the University of Detroit on Sunday, Oct. 19, at Shibe Park, Philadelphia.

Villanova scored its first victory in five bids against Holy Cross last season, winning by 14-13. The series began in 1922 and was resumed in 1947.

Guard Al Barker's extra point kick was the margin of victory over the Crusaders in 1946. The Kulpman, Pa., senior will be at his familiar right guard slot once more, but John Siano, tackle from Staten Island, is handling the Villanova kicking duties this fall.

The Holy Cross game will create unusual interest in the Philadelphia area. The Crusaders' John (Ox) DaGross, head coach, is a Philadelphia native and has a number of Quaker City products on his squad. Several Villanova players will face former scholastic teammates and rivals.

Always regarded by Villanova players and fans alike as the keenest battle on the schedule, the meeting with Detroit promises to be another nip-and-tuck affair. The two teams have met 14 times since 1901. Villanova winning eight, losing four and breaking even in two.

The game has been famous for its spirited play. The annual meeting between Detroit's Gus Dorais and Villanova's Harry Shuldrick and Clipper Smith still stand out. Now Charley Baer and Jordan Oliver continue the friendly rivalry.

RACE AT LANGHORNE
Two surprise entries were filed over the weekend for the 100-mile national championship midget auto race which will be staged on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 12, at the Langhorne Speedway. The entries were from Paul Russo, Chicago, and Cal Niday, one-legged Pacific Coast champion who recently returned from Australia, where he won the small car title during four months of competition.

Rockets' Hockey Fans May Take 'Special'

A "hockey special" to take Philadelphia fans to Washington for the Rockets' American League ice hockey opener against the Washington Lions on Tuesday, October 14, is being planned by the Arena.

Arrangements are in progress to have the Pennsylvania Railroad put extra coaches on the 6:12 P.M. train out of 30th St. Station that night—if enough Philadelphians want to go to the game.

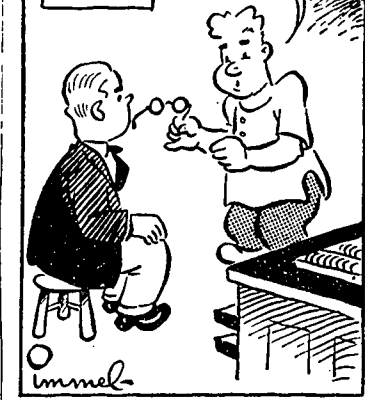

It will be necessary to know the number in order to determine there are enough to warrant adding extra coaches on the train, also to make arrangements to have tickets for the game reserved in Washington for the local rout.

Warriors Arriving For Opening Drills

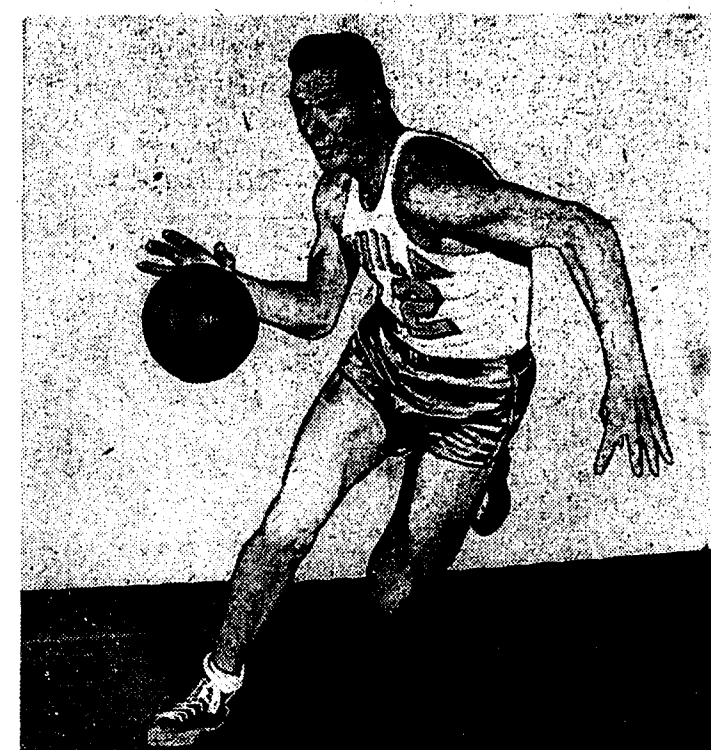

Members of the Philadelphia Warriors arriving from all parts of the country to prepare for another campaign in the pro Basketball Association of America. The players reported Monday to Manager Eddie Gottlieb at the Arena and received their equipment. The next day they had their first workout at the Broadwood Hotel gym and they've been drilling there every day since.

Latin America needs higher living standards more than it does armaments. Without higher living standards, it will drift toward communism regardless of the repressive measures which our military equipment will enable the dictators to employ.—Frederick J. Libby, secretary, National Council for Prevention of War.

HE'S COMING TO THE MAIN LINE

Here's Edward Dallmar, 6-foot-4 centerman of the Philadelphia Warriors, champions of the Basketball Association of America, who will help the Lower Merion Veterans open the basketball season at Ardmore Wednesday, October 22. Dallmar, considered one of the finest playmakers and rebound men in the game today, played on Stanford's National championship team of 1942 and won All-America honors at Penn as a Naval trainee in 1944-45.

Lower Merion Gridders Seek Fourth Straight at Abington

Lower Merion High footballers will seek their fourth straight triumph this Saturday afternoon, opposing Abington High at the Gallop Ghosts' Old York Road gridiron. It will be the first away game for Dick Mattis' machine.

Rolling over Easton last Saturday at Ardmore, Lower Merion racked up a 18-0 triumph. Previously, the Ardmore Aces had upset Northeast, Philadelphia scholastic champion by 20-7, and Overbrook by 25-0.

Dick Oliver, one of Lower Merion's lettermen, suffered a knee injury in the opening game and was unavailable for the Main Line. The slick halfback isn't expected to face Abington, according to Coach Mattis for he wasn't even in uniform last Saturday.

An attack of gripe also plagued Len Shepherd, L. M. captain and an All-Scholastic choice. Shepherd, however, played through almost three-quarters of the Easton game and sparked two of the Matmen's scoring drives. Against Easton he didn't start, but appeared in the first and second quarters, and part of the third.

Abington, paced by John Triplet, Negro sprint star, rolled over Haverford High, 19-0, in its first two games. The Ghosts, who seem certain to appear a tough morsel for L. M., were idle last week.

Shepherd fired a 19-yard pass to Tom Davis and L. M. advanced 68 yards for the final score, as Harry Barton ripped off two 31-yard runs.

Main Line Basketball League Teams Plan November Opener

Although pigskin fever has gripped the Main Line, teams in the Main Line Basketball League are preparing for the opening of the 16th league season one month hence.

The Lower Merion Veterans, defending champions, starting their sophomore year in the circuit, have announced the signing of Bob Hackett as coach. Hackett replaces Stan Thomas, who directed the Vets to the title last year. Thomas resigned because of the press of business affairs.

Hackett is a product of Lower Merion High School and attended Duke University. Last year he started the season with the Veterans, but joined Narberth later in the season.

The Big Maroon have started practice sessions already and will open their season with a pre-league exhibition against the Philadelphia Warriors, world's professional champions, at Lower Merion High School Wednesday night, October 22. The Warriors and Vets scrimmaged several times last year and the Main Line titleholders gave a good account of themselves.

Most of the old standbys—Chuck Viguers, Bill Koehler, George Paine, Bink Manning—will be back but Hank Belber, All-League guard, has left to attend Gettysburg College.

Over in Brookline, veteran mentor Herb Good has lined up a likely looking club to wear the Green and White. Back from last year's team that battled Lower Merion to the limit in the stirring play-off, finals are Nick D'Amora, Bob Poletti, Charlie Gunther and Ray Edelman.

Good started practice sessions last Monday night and included in the aspirants for the Mitchell and Ness five were Art Jones, former Haverford School and Haverford College star; "Ace" Bell, late of Haverford High and a member of Wayne's championship baseball team, and Jim Lafferty, scoring star of Radnor High's crack quintet last year.

Bill Poletti, who paced the Brooks' stretch drive last year, will be lost to the team because of ill health.

Wayne's franchise has been switched from the Veterans' Club to the Italian-American Club. The Italian-Americans sponsored the team that won the Main Line League's crown last year and expect to place a powerful aggregation on the floor this year.

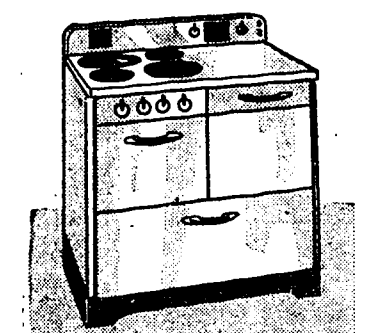

Al Barker, Villanova guard, will face a hometown rival when the Main Liners play Boston College on Oct. 24. Joe Diminick, the Eagles' new backfield ace, also hails from Kulpmont, where he played under Mike Terry, former Villanova athlete.

Ball carriers on other teams may be more highly touted, but when it comes to a choice well take Haverford College's Charles (Chuck) Boteler as one of the Main Line's most talented backs.

Boteler, a holdover from Haverford's unbeaten 1942 team, was the whole show as the Hornets bowed to Susquehanna University, 20 to 18, Saturday. A husky six-footer, Boteler consistently broke away for substantial gains.

Late in the game he sprinted 80 yards down the right sideline for Haverford's third touchdown. Outstanding all Susquehanna rivals, Chuck broke through tackle set sail for the sidelines, and sprinted to a touchdown. It wasn't Boteler's fault—he was regaining his breath on the bench—that Susquehanna rebounded to push over the deciding six-point lead.

Cosy of the Sellingsgrove, Pa., eleven is Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr., son of the famous football mentor. Incidentally, advisory coach of the Susquehanna squad is Amos Stagg, Sr. who recently retired from the College of the Pacific.

Susquehanna operated from an unorthodox spread formation which consistently caught the Hornets off balance. They couldn't tell from one play to the next whether the Crusaders were set to pass, punt or run and it paid dividends.

Villanova Varieties
Villanova's 150-pound football team opens its season away against Rutgers on Oct. 10. Other foes include Navy, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Princeton.

Villanova indicated its cross-country team will be stronger this season with an opening win over Army. Browning Ross and George Thompson are stamper as strong contenders for I. C. 4-A honors.

Ed Michaels, former Villanova guard, who starred with the Chicago Bears and the Philadelphia Eagles, has turned to coaching. He's directing the Wilmington Clippers, of the American Association, a Washington Redskins farm.

The 1947 meeting between the University of Detroit and Villanova College will be the 15th game of the series. The first game was played in 1931.

Bobby Specht Stars In 'Capades' Rodeo
"Rodeo," a huge presentation as exciting as it is beautiful, is one of the features of the all-new Ice Capades of 1948 which opens two weeks engagement at the Arena, 4th and Market Sts., on Monday night, October 13.

Rodeo stars Bobby Specht, 1939 national junior figure skating champion and 1942 senior titleholder, as a tophand cowboy in his greatest solo presentation of his skating career. His solo in the Western setting offers some of his greatest skating.

Haverford Plays Ursinus Eleven

Haverford College, which dropped a 28-18 decision to Susquehanna University last Saturday, will play at Ursinus College this week.

It will be the Main Liners' second game of the season.

Haverford, despite Chuck Boteler's 80-yard touchdown gallop in the third period, was outplayed by a lighter, faster Susquehanna squad, coached by Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr.

The Sellingsgrove eleven scored within the first five minutes of the game, but Haverford shoved over two touchdowns in the second quarter to lead, 12-7, at the half. When Susquehanna rebounded to take a 13-12 lead in the third period, Boteler promptly broke loose for his scoring dash.

Less than five minutes of play remained when Bob O'Gara crashed over for Susquehanna's deciding touchdown. Don Wissinger kicking the second of two extra points for the day. It was the inability of Phil Maroney and Chris Amussen to convert, in fact, which cost Haverford the ball game, the former missing two early in the contest.

John McKenna, Villanova line coach, is passing out cigars these days. He is the proud father of a daughter.
